

1.) This car was a-sem-bled in part,
right here on A-me-ri-can soil.
So spen-ding your tin
on some cheap fo-reign im-port
makes Ge-ne-ral Mo-tor's oil boil.
Com-po-nents are care-fu-ly ga-thered
from fac-to-ries fo-reign and far,
then a-ssem-bled right here
by A-me-ri-can ro-bots.
Hey, that's an A-me-ri-can car.

CHORUS:

(Buy); buy; buy this A-me-ri-can car.
Buy this A-me-ri-can car.
It has wai-ted so long;
it has tra-veled so far;
buy this A-me-ri-can car.

2.) The steel was all made in Japan,
and pressed into shape in Botswana.
For the engines they pay 20 pesos a day
to the workers of South Tijuana.
The ignition's Korean, the tires are French,
the bumper's from Botany Bay
And uniting these nations
they use automation.
Ain't that the American way?

CHORUS: (Buy); buy; buy...

3.) These robots deserve our support,
their work ethic's really inspiring.
They don't mind the lack of a benefits package,
they don't even think of retiring.
They don't go on strike for a raise,
they don't ask for COLA's or Perq.'s.
They show up every day and they work without pay for the guy who gets pay without work.

CHORUS: (Buy); buy; buy...

4.) And in there among all the robots you'll still find a worker or two.
They're feisty and human,
they're true to their union,
they're true to the red, white and blue.
But the Marketing Moguls of Motown
are true to the green dollar sign.
They flaunt it, they fake it,
they don't care who makes it
as long as it rolls down the line.

BRIDGE:

And then they lo-bby on quo-tas
on Saabs and To-yo-tas,
they scream, fo-reign la-bor, un-fair.
Well, I've got more in co-mmon
with blue co-llar foreigners
than a-ny A-me-ri-can mill-ion-aire.

5.) There will always be men who sell snake oil with blather and bluster and brag.
Still the worst of these chiselers
don't bolster their business
by wrapping themselves in the flag.
If they want to sell us the stars and the stripes
let 'em put all their cards on the table
And let's see some jobs in the U.S. of A.
or let's have some truth on the label
(no more singing...)

CHORUS: (Buy); buy; buy...
